Free Coaching Classes

The Department of Mathematics at the college has launched a commendable initiative by offering free coaching classes for competitive examinations. These classes are aimed at benefiting the college's fifth and sixth semester students, as well as alumni, along with interested members of the local community. The primary focus of these coaching classes is to prepare students for third-grade government positions and jobs in banks and post offices.

The initiative was collaboratively undertaken with support from other departments such as Economics, English, Assamese, and Political Science. This collaboration ensures a comprehensive curriculum tailored to the requirements of various job examinations. Classes are scheduled twice a week after 3 PM, accommodating the schedules of working students.

Dr. Abu Taher Mollah, the Head of the Mathematics Department and convener of the coaching classes, has organized a structured routine and established a WhatsApp group to facilitate communication among participants. This initiative underscores the department's commitment to fostering educational opportunities and community engagement through targeted skill development.
